

QUESTIONS	ANSWERS
What is the SIS-A?
What is the SIS-A?	The Supports Intensity Scale for Adults (SIS-A) is a valid and reliable tool used as a member needs assessment. Developed and maintained by the Association for Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities (AAIDD), the SIS-A is a comprehensive planning tool that measures support needs in the areas of home living, community living, lifelong learning, employment, health and safety, and social activities. The SIS-A typically takes 2-3 hours to gather the information needed and complete in full.
What is the Lifespan Project and how does it connect to the SIS-A?	One aspect of the project is a waiver being planned by OADS for 2025, which is intended to serve the member across the entire lifespan with services attuned to different needs. It will support self-direction, community inclusion and the implementation of innovations and innovative service options. The SIS-A will be required for participation in the Lifespan waiver. To learn more about it, you can go to the OADS website: https://www.maine.gov/dhhs/oads/about-us/initiatives/needs-assessment-implementation-project.
Is a SIS-A required?	Participation is currently voluntary. The State of Maine Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) plans to require the SIS Assessment at some future date, as part of a new waiver called the Lifespan Waiver. Individuals that participate in a SIS assessment now will contribute to the information gathered about what changes are needed to the current service system and will be helpful in creating the Lifespan Waiver. DHHS also encourages individuals to participate in a SIS assessment now, so that they understand the process for any future assessments.
How does the SIS-A measure support needs?	The SIS assesses the support needs of people with IDD or autism. It has been in use since 2004. The “Adult SIS” (SIS-A) for individuals aged 16 and older. The SIS focuses on what support a person needs to successfully live as independently as possible. Things like taking care of personal needs, working or volunteering, housekeeping, or maintaining relationships and connecting with their community. The SIS also asks about a person’s exceptional medical and/or behavioral support needs. The assessment is done as an interview. A trained interviewer does the interview with the person with IDD or autism and others who know them well.

Understanding the SIS Assessment Process
How often will the SIS-A need to be completed for a member?	The initial plan is that the SIS-A will be completed for each individual once every three years. If a significant life altering event occurs that may change the member’s support needs, a decision to potentially perform a new SIS-A will be made by OADS.
Who should participate in the SIS-A assessment?	AAIDD requires 2 participants be present for each SIS. It is preferred to include the member, guardians, family, friends, direct support staff from residential, day or other providers. Participants should have known the member for at least 3 months.  It is also strongly recommended that the case manager participate in the assessment, provided they have known the person for at least 90 days.
How does the SIS-A differ from SIS assessments performed several years ago in Maine?	AAIDD published an updated version of the SIS-A in January 2023, called the SIS-A 2nd edition. There are minimal changes from the original SIS-A version. Assessors will be trained and certified to complete the SIS-A 2nd addition.

QUESTIONS	ANSWERS
How will a need or request for accommodations for the SIS-A be addressed?	When planning for a SIS assessment, the Maximus scheduler will ask if there is the need for accommodations.
Where will the assessment occur?	The goal is for the assessment to occur where confidential information can be shared, in a location that is best and most comfortable for the individual – at home, at a day program, etc.
Who covers the cost for any interpreters that are needed?	The State of Maine (OADS) covers the cost of any interpreters required.
What are the major steps in the SIS assessment process?	Before the Assessment A scheduler will contact the case manager who will contact the guardian (if applicable) to schedule a date, time, and location that works best. The scheduler will also ask if there are others who the member would like to invite to the assessment. Those who attend the assessment are called respondents. Respondents will talk about the types of supports the member needs to be successful. They must attend for the whole the assessment. It can take 2 to 3 hours. To protect the member’s private information, please refrain from using outside electronics, such as cell phones, laptops, or recording devices are used during the assessment, other than emergency or accommodation use. At the Assessment The interviewer will explain the process to everyone at the assessment. It’s important that the member with IDD or autism attend, if only part of the time. If the member cannot attend, the interviewer will schedule a time to meet them in person prior to the assessment. After the Assessment Members will: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Receive their SIS-A results from the community case manager (CCM) by e-mail, mail, or in person.</li> <li>2. Get ready for their Person-Centered Planning meetings.</li> <li>3.
